2.2 Logging In

Any person or entity that plans to submit filings into the registry must be a registered client. Registration is free, and the registration process is explained later in this Manual. See the Create and Maintain Account Information section of this document for more information.

Once you have established an account in the registry, users log in from the public website by clicking the Log In link and entering the username and password on the top right corner of the website.

3.0 Overview on Client Accounts

All organizations and individuals that would like to be able to submit filings to the Registry must first be registered as clients of the registry. Registration as a client is free. To register, you simply fill out an online form with your details (name, address, organization, etc.). You must submit a government-issued photo ID along with your application. Your application will be submitted to the Registrar for approval. If the Registrar has any questions about your application, they will contact you. When your application is approved you will receive an email notice from the Registrar, and at that point you will be ready to use the system. The person who submitted the account application will automatically be deemed the Account Administrator.

Once your organization becomes a client of the Registry, the account may have any number of individual authorized users (for example, managers, loan or credit officers, accountants, etc.). The list below shows the permissions that may be assigned to users:

- 1) Change Password - Allows the user to change their own password.
- 2) General Client – Allows user to register new and change notices, look up Access Numbers for notices they registered, and perform certified searches.
- 3) Data Upload - Allows the user to use the Data Migration Upload Tool to upload spreadsheets with prior notices for import into the registry during the transition period.
- 4) Receive Client Statements – Allows user to receive the emailed end-of-month Client Statements
- 5) Client Security Administrator – Allows the user all general user rights PLUS the right to add or delete users on the account, update information about the client and associated user accounts, change passwords for all associated user accounts, view access numbers for all notices registered by all associated users, and run reports based upon all activity for that client account within the system.
- 6) Notice Workflow - Approve Notice - If the account is configured to require notice approval before submission (maker/checker), this role must be granted to users that will approve notices. In the event that approvers also have the enter notice role, approvers may still not approve notices they have entered.
- 7) Notice Workflow - Enter Notice - If the account is configured to require notice approval before submission (maker/checker), this role must be granted to users that will enter notices.

Paradigm Applications

As noted previously, the first user added on the account during account creation is considered as the Account Administrator and has all permissions on the account. This user may then add the necessary additional users to the parent account. A client is responsible for the security practices of its users and for all fees charged for transactions by its users.

4.0 Make a Payment to the Registry [for future reference only]

Normally there is a filing fee charged to submit a filing. However, the Reserve Bank of Fiji has determined not to charge fees at the outset of this reform in order to promote economic development. If in the future fees are to be charged, then this section will apply. To be clear, until further notice no accounts need to be pre-funded. This section is provided for future reference, if needed.

Paradigm Applications

If at some point the Registry requires payments, then all accounts would need to be pre-funded in order to submit notices that incur fees or perform certified searches. Then the account must have sufficient funds to cover the cost of the fees at the time the notice is registered or a certified search is performed.

4.1 Credit/Debit Card Payments

1. Click on the “Make a Credit Card Payment” link on the Account Activities section of the Home Page.

5.0 Record a Notice of Security Interest

The Registry allows users to register notices of security interest. If you have agreed to take a security interest in movable property of someone to secure their obligation to you (usually an obligation to repay money) you may register a notice here to inform others of your Security Interest over their movable property (the “collateral”).

The reason for registering a notice of security interest is to establish a secured party’s rights in a debtor’s asset. The registering of the notice will warn prospective creditors (and buyers) of assets whether there is a pre-existing Security Interests in the property, and the holder of that prior notice most likely has priority in the property.

You will see that certain key data fields require double-blind entry. The registry has been designed to require this in order to help filers make certain that they have entered a good value for these fields. For example, for car loans the VIN of the motor vehicle must be entered into the registry in a specific field, and if the VIN is wrong then the Notice may not be legally effective. For this reason, the registry requires the VIN to be entered twice. The same double-entry is also required for TINs and Company registration numbers.

1. From the Searches and Registrations section of the Home Page, select the “Register a New Notice of Security Interest” option. Selecting this option will display a screen to enter information about the new notice.

Generally speaking, the effective date of the Notice should correspond to the period of the loan. If the loan is not paid off by the time the lapse date arrives you may extend the effectiveness of the filed notice by filing a “continuation.” If you have a loan with a revolving credit facility, i.e., no certain end date, you may enter a date far into the future.

- The Registrant may click the “Add Registrant as Secured Party” button to copy the registrant’s name and address information into the first Secured Party’s matching fields. This saves the filer from having to retype this information each time they submit a filing. This is not mandatory, however, and would not be used if, for example, a law firm was submitting a Notice on behalf of a lender.

7.0 Reregistering Prior Notices

There are literally thousands of transactions that occurred prior to the commencement of the PPSA that must be re-registered into the PPSA registry. The online system allows prior notices for security interest to be recorded in the system for the first 180 days of the Registry, which is the transition period called for in the law. The process for completing a prior notice is exactly the same the new notices except users must select the applicable filing type for pre-existing transaction. For filers with a large number of filings to be reregistered, they can also be uploaded into the system using an Excel spreadsheet process. There is a manual that outlines this process and provides the file format and processing rules. If you would like to use this process please contact RBF.

To use the regular online registration process for pre-existing transactions, simply follow the same process as you would for entering a new notice. Just make certain to select the option to “Register a Notice of Prior Transaction.”

9.0 Maker/Checker System for Filing Approval

If you wish to have an internal review process for checking filings before submission to the registry, you may do so by enabling the Notice Approval process on your account profile. If this process is enabled, you may designate users on the account as notice entry users and/or notice approval users by selecting the appropriate permissions on the user profile. Users with the Notice Entry role may then enter notices and submit them for review. Notices submitted for review will not be immediately registered. Rather, they will be sent to a queue for notice approval by users on your account with the notice approval role. Notice approvers may pull notices from the work queue for review and either approve the notices or send them back for edit by the notice entry staff. Once the notice is approved by a notice approver on your account, it is registered and searchable on the registry publicly. Note: If notice approval is turned on, no user may approve his or her own notice. The following steps illustrate the process of enabling and using the notice approval process.

9.1 The client administrator on your account may turn on the notice approval process. To enable the notice approval process, first open the account profile from the “Update or View Account Information” link on the Account Home page. Next, check the “Notice Approval Required?” checkbox and press Save Changes.

9.2 Next, you must assign notice entry and notice approval permissions to users within your organization. To do this, open the user profile for the desired user from the Users tab on the account profile. Next, select the “Notice Workflow – Approve Notice” permission and/or “Notice Workflow – Enter Notice” permission and press Save Changes. Note: A user may be both a notice entry user and notice approval user. If a user has both roles, the user may still not approve his or her own notice.
